

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A liquid oral therapeutic dental composition, that increases in viscosity upon contact with moisture following application to an oral cavity surface, is disclosed. The composition comprises a moisture responsive gel carrier comprising a moisture sensitive polymer complex and a water soluble salt and a therapeutic agent dispersed in the responsive gel carrier. Methods and devices for administering the composition are also disclosed.